ELMER HERNDON IS KILLED AT PARNELL

CAUGHT IN BELT OF THRESHER WHICH HE WAS TENDING

DIED ALMOST INSTANTLY

Survived by Wife and Five Children, Besides Father, Mother, Brothers and Sisters

Elmer Herndon, 38 years old, was killed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of his father, O. O. Herndon, three and a half miles east of Parnell, when he was caught in a belt on a threshing machine. The machine is a company affair and Mr. Herndon was tending the separator. While performing his duties he became caught in a fast belt that runs the fan. Some of the men who were there say that he was jerked up and whirled about by the belt.

Mr. Herndon's left arm was torn off between the elbow and the wrist, his left leg was broken and his jaw was broken. He also got a blow in the temple. It is believed that it was the latter that caused his death. Some of the men say that they do not believe that he drew a breath after the accident occurred.

Mr. Herndon has lived at Parnell for many years. At the time of his death he was living on his fathers farm. He is survived by his wife and five children, Ethel, Lucile, Laverla, Harley and Ellen. He is also survived by his father and mother, and eight brothers and sisters as follows: Clarence and Harland Herndon who live in Wyoming; Ed Herndon, Grant City; Clifford Herndon, Parnell; Mrs. Ed Orth, Danville, N. Dak.; Mrs. Willie Wilson, Parnell; Mrs. Willie Chatten, Parnell; Hazel Herndon, Parnell.

The Woodmen lodge of Parnell had charge of the funeral services, which were held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Oxford church. Burial was at the Oxford cemetery.

Duty of the Democrats to Vote Next Tuesday

The following letter has been sent out by the Long-for-Senator-Club of Nodaway County.

July 27, 1922.

DEAR FRIEND:

We are thus addressing you by printed letter because of the shortness of the time between now and next Tuesday, August 1, the day of the Primary Election.

In doing so we assume you feel as we do, that no man can look back over the history of the last few years without recognizing the renomination of Senator Reed for United States Senator by the Democrats of Missouri would constitute a repudiation of all Democracy has done and stood for during that time. On the other hand, Breckenridge Long, whom Reed is now opposing for the nomination, has always been true to his trust. Two years ago, in a field of six candidates, he easily won the Democratic nomination for Senator, but was carried down to defeat in the landslide at the November election which Reed did so much to bring about, though running over 20,000 votes ahead of his ticket.

The particular circumstances which lead us to venture to address this letter to you are these. In the public press during the last few days the Reed forces have conceded that Breckinridge Long would carry Nodaway County, as well as the other counties in northwest Missouri. But they state publicly that the big cities will nominate Reed because the rural voters will neglect to vote. If next Tuesday should be a bad, rainy day, probably many voters in this county would be kept from going to the polls; but if the weather is favorable there will be no excuse for our failure to exercise the most important duty of citizenship by voting, especially at such an important time.

This is no mere circular letter. It is intended to be an earnest appeal, addressed to you at the last minute, to vote next Tuesday, and to assist the women in getting to the polls, and to put forth your best efforts in encouraging other Democrats to vote. If we, the Democrats of Missouri in the country and smaller cities and towns, are trampled under it will be our own fault, and simply because we have failed to exercise the right of suffrage, as the highly organized political forces in the cities always do. No greater duty lies before Nodaway County Democrats than to vote next Tuesday on the question as to who shall be the Democratic party's nominee TO REPRESENT MISSOURI IN THE UNITED STATES SENATE FOR THE NEXT SIX YEARS.

With the hope that you will receive this letter in the spirit of cooperation in which it is sent, we are

Very truly yours,

CHAUTAUQUA SALE REACHES 476 MARK

123 SOLD IN THE CANVASS CARRIED ON YESTERDAY

SOLICITORS ON STREETS

De Molays to Have Stand Concessions—Tickets on Sale at Business Houses

Incomplete returns, checked over early this morning, show that 123 season tickets to the Chautauqua were sold yesterday. No report had been received from two of the workers selling tickets. This brings the total number of sales up to this morning to 476. Of the 123 sales made yesterday 101 were adult tickets and twenty-two were children's tickets.

A. T. Estes sold the highest number of tickets yesterday with a record of thirty-one adult and 6 children tickets. C. M. Shelton came out second best with eighteen adults and six children's tickets.

H. C. Todd, chairman of the guarantors, says that he has been asked a number of times when the price of $2.50 would be put on the adult chautauqua tickets, in place of the $2.25 price on them now. He says that he is not able to announce anything definite on this other than that it will be put on as soon as the amount of the guarantee is reached. If the amount has not been reached by the time the chautauqua the increased price will be charged anyway.

The right to the stand concessions at the chautauqua has been granted to the De Molays, Mr. Todd announced this morning. The De Molays will use the money for the purpose of sending the drill patrol to St. Louis.

Seats were put on sale today at the banks, grocery stores and at the office of the Hanamo Telephone Company in Maryville. A number of the guarantors, who live outside of Maryville, are on the streets this afternoon selling tickets to those who live out of town.

NEW HEATING PLANT AND TOILETS FOR PARNELL SCHOOL

Are to be put in According to the Recommendations of the County Health Department

The school board of the Parnell Consolidated School is co-operating with the county health office to the extent that they have planned on installing a new heating plant for their building at Parnell and sanitary toilets. One of the directors of the school board conferred with Dr. Claude P. Fryer yesterday while he was in Parness conducting a health clinic and said they would install the heating plant and sanitary toilets according to the recommendations of the county health officer.

The health clinic conducted at Parness yesterday by Dr. Fryer, county health officer, and Mrs. Grace Bean, county health nurse, was attended by eighteen people. Eight of these were school children, six were infants and four were pre-school children.

Mrs. Bean made two home visits and found that one tonsil correction had been made.

Dr. Fryer and Mrs. Bean were in the health office this morning. One child was brought to the office for examination and one surgical dressing was made.

SHOPMEN MAY GO BACK ON JOBS

ARE WILLING TO WORK PENDING A REHEARING.

NEXT WEEK IMPORTANT

Settlement or Beginning of Fight to a Finish Is Expected in Officials.

Washington, July 29—The president's peace program designed to end the rail strike was sent from the White House to T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the association of railway executives, and Bert M. Jewell, leader of the shopmen.

It was authoritatively learned the strikers will return to work on the reduced wage scale decreed by the labor board pending a rehearing of the case. The strikers will have their seniority unimpaired except those remaining on the jobs to retain their seniority entitled.

The settlement will be national and both will agree to abide by the future decisions of the labor board.

New York, July 29.—Chairman Loree of the Eastern association of railway executives telegraphed the senators from New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont declaring that President Harding is not attempting to inform himself on his position and that nearly two hundred thousand shopmen are now working.

The statement at this delicate time created a sensation in railway circles.

Chicago, July 29.—Developments of the conferences in Washington between President Harding and the leaders of the strikers gave rise to the belief the coming week either will see a settlement or continuation until the opposing sides have fought to the end of their resources.

A conference of ninety general shopcrafts union is expected to accept the plan reported proposed by the president.

A strike settlement is believed to hinge on the stand of the railway executives in New York Tuesday.

Chicago, July 29.—Two men were wounded, another kidnapped and a fourth beaten in disorders at the Burside shops of the Illinois Central. The strikers hurled missles at a squad of non-union workers. A deputy guard fired shots, wounding two.

The K. P. Lodge has just finished installing a Westinghouse receiving radio set complete with magnavox in the lodge rooms. The apparatus was finished yesterday and tried out at noon today by E. C. Kessler. Messages were received from Ames, Ia., and Kansas City. They were fairly free from static.

If the weather clears up, the set will be given a final tryout this evening. The set is of about the same capacity as other sets in town and under favorable conditions it could receive messages from New York City, Pittsburgh, Denver and Jefferson City.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT TO CARE FOR BABIES AT PICNICS

To Provide Rest Rooms for Mothers and Cribs for Little Ones, Nurses in Charge

Mothers may take their children to the picnics at Barnard, Ravenwood and Elmo this year and enjoy themselves in a carefree way. According to Dr. Claude P. Fryer's plan, the health department has made arrangements to have a rest room for the mothers and women and cribs and nurses to care for the children.

The nurses will be at the tent and the children may be brought there by the mothers and put in a crib, covered with mosquito bar, where they will be cared for while the mothers enjoy the picnic. This brings the health officers and the county nurses in direct contract with the mothers and at the same time renders a real service.

LOCAL CLUBS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS WANT THEM IN HIGH SCHOOLS.

TO RAISE FOR MARKET

Is Thought Would Be Possible to Reach More With Instruction in This Way.

Plans for the work to be done in Nodaway County during the next year in the way of boys' and girls' clubs was discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of Roy A. Kinnaird, county farm agent, and a number of superintendents of the different schools in the county. A proposal was made by Mr. Kinnaird to have a number of local boys' and girls' clubs organized in the consolidated school districts and the territory adjacent to the high schools in the county which the boys and girls attend.

The boys and girls will take a sow and a litter of pigs and raise the pigs for the market and finish their work with a local pig club show rather than to have the boys and girls from the extreme parts of the county to come to Maryville to show their pigs.

Since the local clubs would have a number of members located in a small territory it was also proposed to have at least six regular meetings of the club for regular instructions in their pork production work.

It is believed that by organizing a number of local pig clubs through the co-operation of the consolidated high schools and by raising hogs for the market rather than for sales, a greater number of boys and girls can be reached with the instruction in pork production than could be through the county club. In such a county organization the members are so scattered that meetings for instruction are difficult to hold in the local clubs the meetings can be held regularly.

The proposed plans were unanimously adopted by those present: Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, Roy A. Kinnaird, county farm agent; A. H. Leonard, specialist from the agriculture extension division of the University of Missouri; J. N. Geyer, Pickering; J. M. Broadbent, Guilford; William Richards, Ravenwood; Mrs. Thomas, Clyde; J. W. Pierce, Skidmore and W. A. Power, Quitman.

WHEREABOUTS OF CRISS STRONG STILL A MYSTERY

The whereabouts of Criss Strong, who disappeared the morning of June 29 from his home near Guilford, is still as much of a mystery as it was a month ago today. It was thought at the time that he left that Mr. Strong had committeed suicide and this theory has never been proven or disproven. When he left Mr. Strong took his gun and his Sunday hat. He was dressed in his working clothes.

PEACE NEAR SAY MINE OPERATORS

PREDICTING CONFERENCE WITH WORKERS NEXT WEEK.

BREAK WITH FARRINGTON

Illinois Miners are Preparing to Take Steps to Oust Their President.

Cleveland, O., July 29.—Peace in the union coal fields of the country is near, prominent operators declare. Within a short time, possibly next week, a joint conference representing the central competitive field will meet with the scale committee of the mine workers to arrange a basis of settlement. A full attendance of the operators is not expected, but it is believed the operators employing union miners will accept the results.

Springfield, Ill., July 29—Active insurgency in the ranks of the Illinois miners against Frank Farrington, state president, appeared. Freeman Thompson, local president, said the miners were prepared to take steps to oust Farrington if he makes a move toward separate agreement. He said Belleville, Peoria and Springfield subdistricts were especially bitter toward Farrington.

Indianapolis, July 29—The executive board of the Indiana miners will meet Monday to consider Governor McCray's request for permission to work sufficient miners to supply coal to the state institutions, it was announced.

Washington, July 29.—The burden of checking coal profiteers during the period of national emergency was largely placed upon the individual states under the plans of coal rationing. Secretary Hoover announced the federal government will see that the coal is properly distributed and passed to the hands of the state commission who will take care of the coal within state borders.

Nashville, Tenn., July 29.—Violence in the coal strike has broken out in Claiborne county. The situation is beyond control of the local authorities. The governor has been asked to send troops and is conferring with adjutant general about the matter.

DIPLOMATS AND PRICES

Europeans frequently wonder how the United States maintains so efficient a diplomatic corps when the rewards of the service are so small. In their own countries the foreign service is an honored profession, offering the young man a career to which he fits himself from birth.

There are four serious faults with our foreign service. (1) Young men do not aspire to become diplomats, because the service does not occupy the honorable position that it does in other countries. (2) No facilities are provided for training men for diplomacy. Few colleges offer courses which would enable students to pass the examinations for the service, which are very 'stiff.' (3) Salaries are low, even in responsible positions. (4) The career ends in a blind alley. Regular advancement is stopped at the grade of councelor of embassy, above which the pots are filled by presidental appointment, under the polls system.

There are some exceptionally able and remarkably devoted men in the diplomatic service. That this is true is our national good fortune, not our deserts.

Most of our diplomats are rich. Unless a man possesses independent means he cannot afford to enter the service. This is not in accord with out ideals of democracy. Wealth should be no bar to patriotic service but neither should the lack of wealth be any disqualification.

A bill has been before Congress to adjust salaries and to fill the higher diplomatic posts by promotion. If the two changes were made, probably the first two faults would be automatically corrected.

The man who blows his own horn altogether has a hard time keeping it in tune.

Normalacy may be coming back but it is badly scarred and not at all like its real self.

Just as a matter of history. Speaking of slow horses. Who led the democratic ticket in Missouri in 1918? Breckinridge Long. Who led the ticket in 1916 in Missouri? Woodrow Wilson.

It is very likely that there is a good deal of bluff in the claim that a large number of republicans will attempt to vote in the democratic primaries. Republicans have good reasons to feel kindly toward the Senator who sulked in Missouri and campaigned in Wisconsin but republicans in good standing and recognized as good citizens will not want to place themselves in opposition to their own party and their own party candidates by voting in a Democratic primary.

A peculiar situation occurred in a boxing match in Colorado a few evenings ago. One man landed on the other's chin after the first party had started a blow for his stomach. Before the party who was hit on the chin fell, he completed the blow he had started for the other's stomach and they both went down together and the referee counted both out. It was a case where both parties were satisfied with the referees decision as to the other fellow at least.

A good many of the statistics that are floating around now days are of staggering size and bewildering figures and yet when subjected to cold analysis there is nothing in them to impress us beyond the greatness of this wonderful country. There is a stock of 850,000,000 gallons of gasoline in storage now. A tremendous amount Yet, that is only 82 gallons for each American auto. How long would it last if parceled out 82 gallons to each one? There are 325,000,000 meals served in this country every day but that is only three for each of us. Some of us wonder why things do not move faster at Washington. This is a big country, it has various conflicting interests, and great bodies necessarily move slowly.

LANNING TIRE AND TOP CO. TO NEW QUARTERS

Adding General Repair Department So That All Phases of Work Can Be Taken Care of

The Lanning Tire and Top Company is moving from the building on East Fourth street, where it has been operating, to the Allen Bros. building on the east side of the square. Mr. Lanning will open in his new place August 1.

A new department has been added to the company. It is that of repairs. Joe Wagner will have charge of this department. "Everything for the Car" is now the slogan of the concern. Mr. Lanning says that all the work of the company will be carried on at the new stand, with the exception of the painting, which he carries on at a shop at his home.

The new quarters of the tire and top concern were formerly occupied by the Farmers Auto Supply Company. Allen Bros., have remodeled the room in the past few weeks.

A STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS FAVORED

Meeting to Be Held This Fall to Form C. of C. Body—Hull on Committee.

George A. Pickens and Editor Fred Hull attended a meeting in Kansas City yesterday for the purpose of making plans for a formation of a state chamber of commerce. Mr. Hull was a member of the committee in charge of making the plans. He returned to Maryville last evening. Mr. Pickens remained in Kansas City today.

A special committee of which Mr. Hull is a member of was appointed more than a year ago to consider the advisability of establishing a state chamber. This committee voted yesterday in favor of the formation of a Missouri Chamber of Commerce.

A meeting will be called for the early fall, the committee decided, to complete the state organization. Each of the 173 chambers of commerce in Missouri will be permitted to send two representatives to the meeting.

The various city chambers of commerce will be member organizations. Also, according to the plans outlined yesterday, there will be firm, corporation and individual memberships, all of which will be assessed dues to finance the new chamber.

The state chamber will serve as a means of co-ordination for the activities of the 173 city organizations, and will be an information clearing house. The new organization, according to present plans, will be similar to the national chamber.

He is a graduate of the Maryville High School, and a graduate of a four years' course in the Missouri State University.

He passed the state bar examination at Jefferson City last December and was admitted to the Nodaway County bar at the January term of the Circuit Court.

He has a knowledge of law which is a valuable asset for efficient service in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Why I am a Candidate for the Office of Recorder

When I lost my business, expressions of regret, and sympathy, and offers of assistance came to me from all parts of Nodaway County. Many dear friends in both political parties in their desire to be helpful came to me and insisted that I announce my candidacy for the office of Recorder of Deeds, suggesting that it would afford me means of regaining a portion of my loss and a means of support until my business affairs were adjusted.

After taking my friends' suggestions under advisement for a few days, I decided to enter the race for the nomination, and if nominated, to make a vigorous effort to win the election, and I felt confident that my friends would see that I did win.

Having been a citizen of Nodaway County for over fifty years, I feel that I am no stranger to her people.

I regret that I did not have the means to enable me to make a near personal canvass of the County, and meet the voters. But I could not do so. But you all know me and I feel sure that you will, under the circumstances, take the good intentions for the deed. I kindly remember those who have encouraged, and assisted me in my campaign for the nomination.

REMEMBER IT TAKES REPUBLICAN VOTES TO NOMINATE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES. So I appeal to every Republican voter to go to the AUGUST FIRST Primary election, and I trust that you will remember me by having your ticket read

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF NODAWAY CO.:

On next Tuesday I know that in every candidate you will consider two points: their honesty, integrity and qualifications on one hand and their strength as a vote-getter on the other. As to the former my record of two years as a member of the County Court is before you. As to the latter, I direct your attention to the almost unprecedented majority I received in Hughes and Polk townships in 1920 when I was a candidate against Judge Davis, a man of character and standing. I refer to these two townships because they are the two in which I had lived and where I was best known.

I especially invite the attention of the lady voters to my candidacy and I hope they will turn out en masse and exercise their rights of citizenship in the first primary contest in which it has been accorded to them.

I most earnestly ask careful consideration of my claims.

Yours truly,
HENRY N. MOORE.

Don't Be Fooled- - -

FOOL me once," says the proverb, "and it's shame on you. Fool me twice and it's shame on me."

Don't be fooled when it comes to spending your money. Patronize the merchants who have a reputation for fair dealing and honesty. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his patrons.

The consistent advertiser pays money to tell you about his goods. He knows they are good—he backs them with his money because he believes they will satisfy. Only merchandise which is consistently good can be consistently advertised.

So advertising protects you against fraud and inferiority. It tells you what is new and good, making you a wise buyer. It saves you money by pointing out for your consideration only the best products and the best places to buy them.

Thrifty men and women read the advertisements. To them it is a plain every-day business proposition—a duty they owe to themselves and to ther pocketbooks.

Don't be fooled.

Don't spend your money blindly.

OASIS IN ARIZONA DESERT

What Has Been Done to Make Ajo, for Centuries an Arid Spot, "Blossom Like the Rose."

West of the Santa Cruz and south of the Gila in Arizona the territory is generally an irreclaimable desert. Its mountains, however, abound in rich ore of gold, silver and copper. At the celebrated mine, the New Cornelia Copper company has created in the midst of this arid district a garden spot with attractive and artistic houses of mission architecture, and broad avenues lined with palms. This has been accomplished by providing a million gallons of water a day, which is pumped from a 700-foot well eight miles from town. The history of mining in the district is full of the romance of the West, the copper deposit there having been first worked by the Spaniards and Mexicans 200 years before the Gadsden purchase. According to A. W. Allen, writing in Engineering and Mining Journal-Press, it was only after long experimentation that a process adaptable to the treatment of complex ores was evolved. The operating company provides a school and hospital for benefit of its employees and also runs a profit-sharing store. The camp is connected with the railroads of the country by a branch of the El Paso and Southwestern railroad. The mining claims and the mill sites cover an area of 2,854 acres. The property affords a striking and unusual example of what American industrial management can accomplish under adverse climatic and geographical conditions.

KNEW OF HEART'S FUNCTIONS

Papyrus Proves That Ancient Egyptian Physicians Were Fully Conversant With Important Organ.

Egyptian physicians in the days of the Hebrew patriarchs knew the heart is the center of a system, throughout which its pulsations are felt. They performed operations, made diagnoses, catalogued cases and verdicts, and pursued investigations in a scientific spirit, according to a study of the Edward Smith papyrus made by Prof. J. H. Breasted of the University of Chicago.

Professor Breasted declared the ancient document lay in a coffin for "some three and a half milleuniums." Pointing out that it was discovered by an American, Edwin Smith, the Chicago orientalist asserted it contained "incomparably the most important body of medical knowledge which has survived to us from the ancient Orient anywhere."

The passage about the heart reads in part: "There is in it (the heart) a canal leading to every member of the body. Concerning these, if the physician places the fingers on the back of the head, on the hands, on the pulse, on the legs, he discovers the heart, for the heart leads to every member and it beats in the canals of every member."

Wild Horses of Sable Island.

Ever since the dismal failure to colonize Sable island in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence, when Canada was New France, there have been a few domestic animals on that bleak spot, relics of that ill-fated attempt. Some horses were among them, probably survivors of shipwrecks, for Sable island is a dangerous place and bears the name of the Graveyard of the Gulf, from the number of gallant ships which found their end thereabouts. The horses multiplied and developed into a rough hardy little breed of ponies.

More than one hundred of these wild native ponies perished during the last winter, the government steamer, Lady Laurier, reported the other day when she arrived from a trip to the Atlantic graveyard. The covering of the island grass by drifting snow during a stormy winter was declared responsible for the deaths. It is likely that another such winter will put an end to this unique little horse colony.

Detroit Has a Kite Day.

Kite day has become an annual event in Detroit. So popular has it become that competitors in the events of the seventh annual kite day in May were divided into two sections. Those who live east of Woodward avenue floated their kites in Pingree park and those who live west competed in Woodward park. The East side contest was particularly thrilling because it was participated in by Chinese, Korean and Filipino boys. Oriental peoples are the most expert makers and flyers of kites in the world, according to the Survey. This fascinating sport with them originally had an important ritual significance.

Metal Turned Into Gas.

Two professors at Chicago university claim to have succeeded in turning a metal, tungsten, into gas, helium. Between 50,000 and 60,000 degrees of heat were needed for the experiment. This is the highest temperature ever known. The temperature of molten steel is 2,000 degrees. That of the sun is 9,000 degrees, while some of the hottest stars are 30,000 degrees.

One hundred thousand volts of electricity were discharged at a high speed through a fine tungsten wire. The wire exploded with a deafening report and a flash two hundred times brighter than sunlight and decomposed into gas.

WOULD SAVE THE SONGBIRDS

Associated Audubon Societies Have Planned a General Campaign Throughout the South

A general campaign for the better protection of songbirds is to be conducted throughout the South by the Associated Audubon Societies, a national organization. T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the organization, who has been studying southern bird life, deplores evidence he has found which indicates that bird mortality in the South has about wiped out valuable species in many localities. In South Carolina he found conditions in this respect very distressing, while a survey in Texas revealed a similar situation. But his indictment covers the entire South, and hence the campaign in contemplation is to include all the southern states. Mr. Gilbert directed the attention of farmers to the fact that the fight against the boll weevil is being greatly handicapped by the slaughter of birds. In this connection he said further:

"While they feed on insects and do not specialize on boll weevils, a single songbird will destroy great quantities of weevils. The value of these birds in checking the multiplication of insects is thoroughly understood all through the North, where the laws protecting birds are observed. In most sections of the North a farmer would prosecute anyone killing songbirds on his lands. But in many parts of the South the farmers, his sons and the hired men kill birds constantly, eating the robin and some of the other larger varieties and shooting many of the smaller varieties for sport."—New Orleans Picayune.

QUESTION FOR LAW SHARKS

Nice Point Concerning Ownership of Pearl Which Cook Discovered in Clam She Was Eating.

A nice question of ethics and of law is raised by the case of the cook at Atlantic City who choked on a pearl found in a clam she was eating and whose mistress then claimed the precious obstruction for her own.

In the diamond mines of the Rand at Kimberley the native workman who swallows a diamond does not, ipso facto, make it his own. He digs in the blue clay on the understanding that every jewel discovered belongs to the De Beers Mining company, Ltd. But the cook was in a different situation. She was given her food as a part of her compensation. The pearl is an excrescent part of the clam; it is the picturesque result of a diseased condition.

If possession is nine-tenths of the law, then the cook is entitled to the pearl on the principle of "findings is keepings." In any case, the lady of the house would be entitled to boast, as many a mistress has asserted, "I have a pearl in my cook!"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Lived With Coffin Twenty-Five Years.

When Mrs. Eliza Bass became ill at Lumberton, N. C., 25 years ago she sent for a carpenter to have him make her a coffin to order. He turned out a nice box of hard pine, varnished black, and at the old woman's request placed it under her bed. She grew better immediately. During subsequent illnesses she has had the coffin brought out from under the bed, and every time has got well. Meanwhile, living by herself in her lonely little house on the edge of the village, says an exchange, she has felt safe and has been as safe from chicken thieves and other marauders as if she had a pack of fierce bulldogs to protect her. The negro population of the surrounding country had a deadly fear of the old woman's house and would never go near it after dark. Now the coffin has been put to its original use. Death has claimed its owner at the ripe age of ninety-four, and her friends and neighbors have laid her away.

Constancy!

Eileen was annoyed; she felt the family honor had been badly stained. It was Dora's fault, so she spoke to her about it.

"It's no use denying it, Dora. Although it was too dark for me to see who it was, I distinctly saw some man kiss you in the garden."

Dora was modern, and didn't appreciate her sister's argument.

"I don't see why," she said. "I've often seen George kiss you."

"Oh, that's different. I'm engaged to George. I allow nobody but him to kiss me."

"Exactly," said Dora. "I allow nobody but George to kiss me!"

Famous Tracker Dead.

Perhaps the oldest of the Australian aborigines has lately died at the age of 101. His name was Jack Schoolie, and he was commonly known as King Jacky.

He was known all over the district of Pindari where he was living, for his skill with cattle and horses, up to the age of ninety, and for the instinct of observation by which he could follow a track that an ordinary man could not see at all.

Jacky was a full-blooded aboriginal, and perhaps the last of the men who linked together the old life of the native with the new life of civilization.

The Day's Catch.

"Where's your pa?" asked the man with the brand-new outing clothes.

"Gone fishin'," replied the small boy.

"What does he expect to catch?"

"Nothin' while he's fishin'. But maw told him he'd catch the dickens if he didn't clear out while she was house cleanin'."

SAW WITH PROPHETIC VISION

Toronto Man's Remarkable Prediction of Wireless Telephony Made Many Years Ago.

A remarkable imaginative prediction of wireless telephony was made by Grant Balfour (J. M. Grant) of Toronto in a triologue which appeared in an English magazine in 1889, and was afterward reproduced in a pamphlet entitled "Bahrak-Kohl," two Hebrew words, meaning the voice of the lightning. The characters of this little treatise were represented as in the neighborhood of the Jordan.

"The prophet now took from his girdle," says the narrative, "a small instrument resembling a trumpet for the deaf. Coming down to Mohammed, he asked him to turn his right side toward the southland, to put the broad end of the instrument to his right ear. The prophet then inquired where his home was.

"'My home,' replied Mohammed, 'is in the extreme south of Arabia, 1,400 miles away.'

"'Listen now,' said the prophet; 'dost thou hear the sound of waves?'

"'I do,' replied the sheik. 'Where may they be?'

"'These waves,' answered the prophet, 'are the waves of the Indian ocean breaking upon the Arabian shore.'"

Further describing the instrument, the prophet said: "The thing before thee is but a rude pattern in part of the coming needed device of man. No such device is required by a prophet of the Lord to entrust the lightning with a message. The prophet speaks, nay, he needs but to will, and it is done."—Toronto Globe.

HAS BIG LEAD IN VOLCANOES

United States Can "Boast" of More Than a Quarter of Those Known to Be Active.

Uncle Sam owns more than a quarter of the active volcanoes of the world, the report that two more have been born in Alaska making the grand total 106.

There are 64 smoking peaks in Alaska and the Aleutian islands and many more in western United States, Hawaii and the Philippines. It is likely, however, if many of the so-called vents of the Mount Katmai region of Alaska would be classed as volcanoes this country could boast of the majority of the old earth's skin troubles—an unenviable record.

There are 417 active volcanoes on the globe that have been located to date.

There are numerous peaks in the Philippine islands not sufficiently well known to establish whether they are volcanoes or smoke pots or vents. In Alaska there are hundreds of vents from which constantly issue steam and smoke, but which are not called volcanoes.

An occasional volcano bursts forth from the sea near the Aleutian islands, but finally succumbs to the flood of sea water.

Work in Madagascar Compulsory.

All idle persons in Madagascar must work or pay a tax for the privilege of living an unproductive life. As the end of the war released thousands of native troops, the colonial government has decided that something must be done to check idleness, especially as there is plenty of work for all comers. A decree just published insists that every European sound of limb must work at least 250 days a year up to the age of fifty, but natives are not compelled to work more than 180 days. Of course, anyone with a private fortune can be exempted, but that will cost 25 francs per diem for leisure. All "oisif" taxes will be used to buy agricultural machinery and tools for the development of the island's resources. The aged and crippled will receive a small salary to seek out evaders of the new regulation. "Oisifs" are the equivalent in French for "lounge lizards."

Too Bad! Too Bad!

This is the story told by a New Orleans gentleman attending the foreign trade convention: A steamship arriving from a French port had an enterprising officer who saw a fine opportunity to profit through the dry condition of the United States. He put in a large stock of liquor, and when the vessel arrived in New Orleans had no trouble in getting in touch with purchasers. They agreed to pay on delivery.

The price was $3,000. The liquor was passed over the ship's side in the middle of the night on to a small vessel alongside and the $3,000 given to the officer. The next day the seller went to the bank to buy French exchanges. A few minutes later he was doing two things at one time—tearing his hair and swearing like a trooper. His $3,000 was Confederate money.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Boiling Points of Metals.

For a long time the boiling points of metals were not very accurately ascertained. Not so long ago Greenwood undertook a new investigation of the subject and he gives the following results for certain well-known metals:

Aluminum, 1,800 degrees centigrade; copper, 2,310 degrees centigrade; iron, 2,450 degrees centigrade; and tin, 2,270 degrees centigrade.

HAVE SLANG ALL THEIR OWN

Phrases Introduced by College Students Keep Modern Lexicographers on the Jump.

When Sir E. Bulwer Lytton penned his inspiring line on "the bright lexicon of youth," that lexicon was an open book to sages. But lately the junior lexicon has become more complicated, if not brighter. It is a puzzle even to college presidents. "'Snuggle pupping,'" President Marion Leroy Burton of the University of Michigan remarked the other day, "is a phase of college life of which I am ignorant."

No one can blame a college president for being stumped by "snuggle pupping." Only the youngest and most alert lexicographers can hope to cope with the campus vocabulary, and they only if they take their duties very seriously. "'Necking,'" writes one of the youngest and most serious of the junior lexicographers, "is a Harvard-Yale-Princeton term, about six years old, which has displaced 'petting'—aged about twelve years—as a description of what our grandsires used to call 'spooning.'"

A rule that will be helpful to elders groping among these complexities is to remember that, while there are many terms in the campus lexicons, there is only one topic. For "snuggle pupping" and its successors, look up "spooning."

HER ENUNCIATION IN DANGER

Woman Was Beginning to Feel the Strain of Prolonged Conversation With "Foreigners"

The Woman was visiting the family on the event of the engagement of the youngest daughter. The family was Bostonian by birth and tradition, but the two eldest girls had married several years before and had left their native city. One of them married a Southerner and the other a Westerner.

Each had acquired the accent of her particular locality and the children of the Southern couple had a perfect Southern drawl, while the other sister's children had the broad Western accent.

The effect was startling and the Woman could scarcely follow the conversation. It almost seemed that these sisters were from strange countries, each speaking her own tongue. The mother of the three girls was most confused. When she addressed her Southern daughter she unconsciously affected the Southern drawl and when she talked to her Western son-in-law she nearly perfected the Western accent.

In the hall later, as they were leaving, the mother clutched the Woman's arm.

"My dear," she breathed, "I'm ruining my enunciation trying to talk to these foreigners."—Chicago Journal.

The Forty Immortals.

A name often given to the 40 members of the French academy is the Immortals. These members are elected for life to the academy which meets twice weekly in Paris and which constitutes the highest authority on everything appertaining to the niceties of the French language, to grammar, rhetoric, poetry and the publication of the French classics. The academy was founded by Cardinal Richelieu in 1635, and is the most important and best known of the five academies composing the French institute, the other four being L'Academie des Inscriptions et Belles-Letters, L'Academie des Sciences, L'Academie des Beaux-Arts, and L'Academie des Sciences Morales et Politiques. Membership in the academy is the highest distinction within the power of the nation to bestow upon a literary man.—Kansas City Star.

Relics of Long-Past Age.

A large copper kettle and other relics of a past age, believed by students of archeology to have been buried 1,000 years, were unearthed recently by Dr. H. C. Myers, professor of chemistry at Whitworth college, Spokane, Wash., a few miles north of the city, where some road excavating was being done.

"With the copper kettle," said Doctor Myers, "was the skull of an Indian, wrapped in a piece of buffalo skin. The copper was so old it had changed to copper carbonate. This chemical compound had been absorbed by the skull, and it had served as a preservative. A buckskin shirt also was found in the kettle. A few beads and some wampum also were secured from the excavation."

The Ostrich in Africa.

Some time ago the French authorities in western Africa undertook to organize the breeding of ostriches in the territory under their control. Ostriches are found wild in many parts of western Africa. Along the River Niger they avoid the neighborhood of man, but on some of the islands in that and other rivers the natives have established rude ostrich farms. One official, who was appointed to study the subject, says that the methods of the ostrich farmers of the Cape cannot be fully carried out in French territory. It is necessary to leave the ostriches in a partially nomadic state. They migrate more or less with the seasons. When it becomes too dry in the south they go northward.

The New Qualification.

"I presume there is no need of my asking whether you are conversant with the duties of your position?"

"Indeed, no, ma'am, trust me. Before I have been here a week you will have evidence enough to get a divorce in any state in the Union."—Judge.

LONG SPOKE TO 5,000 IN ST. JOE LAST NIGHT

Candidate Attacks Reeds Record—Was Cheered Frequently

St. Joseph, July 29—A crowd of five thousand persons, one of the largest of the campaign here, assembled in Bartlett park last night to hear a speech by Breckinridge Long, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator. He was cheered frequently, and seemed to make a good impression. His voice was husky when he started, showing the effect of the hard campaign, but he soon warmed up, removed his collar and coat, and launched into a challenge of the democracy of his opponent, Senator James A. Reed.

Long was introduced to the crowd by Louis V. Stigall, local attorney, who is president of the Long-for-Senator Club. Stigall scored Senator Reed, who spoke here Tuesday night, and said that while no radio was broadcasting the message of Breckinridge Long, it was being carried throughout the state "on the heart throb of true Democracy."

Long discussed again the report that Republicans had planned to enter the Democratic primary. Long said the plan had been unsuccessful.

Long declared that independence in a senator is commendable when exercised in behalf of the public welfare.

"However," he declared, "so-called independence, when it is nothing less than mere obstancy, is an entirely different thing. A senator may differ from a President, a member of his own party he may differ from senators, members of his own party, and while that is regretable, it does not constitute disloyalty. But there comes another stage. This is after his party has spoken through its regular delegate conventions. When a platform is made and a senator disagrees and refuses to support it, then, indeed, is a serious situation created. When such a senator presents himself for re-election, he asks his constituents to repudiate the principles and expressions of their party and to defy its traditions."

As the time is short until the Primary and I have been unable to see each of you personally, I take this means of soliciting your support. Having served you for a number of years past, you are familiar with my method of procedure; if this has met with your approval, I will appreciate your support, if it has not it is your duty to support the other man.

In dealing with the public, I have, at all times, tried to be fair to the County, to the individual and to all parties concerned and if re-elected, I assure you I will endeavor to give you a square deal at all times.

Communication
Uncle Sam Killing His People

The wets are alarmed and incensed over Uncle Sam killing off his citizens with bootleg whiskey. They don't remember that under the saloon 100,000 went down to drunkards graves, besides the thousands that went down indirectly or from disease induced by drink and not enumerated in the first list.

Uncle Sam is trying to save his people from liquor by taking the protecting arms of the law from about it, thereby exposing it to death by any one who wants the law enforced.

There is no more bootlegging than there was in the old days. We knew of one town where there were three drug store saloons, besides the carriers that made their week—by rounds distributing liquor from the Maryville saloons to patrons in a dry county.

There are more sober men in Nodaway County and Maryville than there has ever been since I knew the town 61 years.

Business men have told me there are more goods bought for cash, more savings in the banks, there are more children in the schools, more people attending church, everybody better fed, better dressed and more self respecting than in the old saloon days.

And this in the face of the business upheavals and aftermath lawlessness of the great waf.

There are none so blind as those who don't want to see, but how the saloon or that deceptive trick of light wine and beer, which would be a feeder to the old appetite and soon call for the old saloon regime, can appeal to any one as a cure for bootlegging and poisoning the people is something sane men and women can't see. —Mrs. S. S. Wolcott.

Remarkable Photograph of Vesuvius in Action

Here is the smoking cone in the crater of Vesuvius, which has had a recent period of activity that is the most severe in many years. This photograph was obtained at the risk of their lives by the camera men, as the volcano was throwing out rocks and lava almost continuously when the picture was taken.

RALLY TO LONG IS THE PLEA

ADDRESS TO DEMOCRATS IS SENT OUT YESTERDAY.

MUST REPUDIATE REED

"Nomination of Reed Would Be An Indorsement of His Open Opposition to Our Party Platform."

St. Louis, July 29.—The following address to the Democratic voters of Missouri, signed by representative Democrats living in all parts of the state outside of St. Louis and Kansas City, was given out yesterday from Breckinridge Long's headquarters.

The list is headed by the names of Joshua W. Alexander, who was secretary of commerce in President Wilson's cabinet; Judge John S. Farrington of Springfield, Sam B. Cook, ex-secretary of state, and of many veteran Democrats, including three ex-congressmen, John T. Heard, John Cosgrove and Robert Lamar.

Address to Missouri Democrats.

The document reads:

"The Democracy of Missouri confronts a plain duty August 1, involving the integrity of the party as a political entity in the state and the maintenance of party pledges and platforms in both state and nation. This duty concerns the issues involved in the contest of the senatorial nominations. These issues vitally affect party policy and party decisions of the highest importance. If Breckinridge Long is nominated for the senate, his nomination will signify that Missouri Democrats refuse to repudiate the platform declarations of 1916, 1918 and 1920, and refuse to be led into a course chiefly urged by Republicans, who threaten openly to participate in our decision.

Must Repudiate Reed.

"If Senator Reed is nominated, the party will go on record as rejecting the policies advocated in our national and state platforms. His nomination would be an indorsement of his open and defiant opposition to our party platforms and our party leadership. It would signify a complete reversal of party position, and would warrant the interpretation that the nation would place upon it, namely, that the Democrats of Missouri had turned against the leadership of our national administration from 1913 to 1921, and had accepted in its stead La Follette and Hearst and like leaders. These issues are of too great consequence to be minimized or avoided. We must make our choice, and this is said without personal disparagement or consideration of any element except indisputable facts.

Frightened at Republican Bugbear.

"Important as this decision may be, the threat of Republicans to enter the Democratic primary and take part in a contest which is ours alone, is even a great moment. The motive and purpose of the Republicans can easily be discerned. They are seeking toover throw within the Democratic party the progressive force with which the Democracy of Missouri has consistently cooperated. They desire to bring about confusion in Democratic ranks, by the repudiation and rejection of party leadership, party declarations and party policy. We protest against any movement in this direction as inimical to the interests of the state, which demands Democratic success.

"Democrats should name our nominees.

Rally to Long, Is the Plea.

"We urge Democratic voters throughout the state to rally to the support of Mr. Long, because he represents the strength of fighting Democracy, unsullied by any compromise with Republicanism and untainted by any reprehensible understanding, direct or indirect, with Republican leaders, who would be gratified at an opportunity to name our candidates and control our policies. We have asked the nomination of Mr. Long because we have faith in his fidelity to the traditions and tenets of his party, and because we know he faithfully and accurately would reflect the wishes and judgment of his constituency.

"We present this appeal earnestly and sincerely to Democrats, and ask them to join with us in preserving upon primary day, the virile force of our party organization and maintaining steadfast and inviolate the principles and pledges of the Democratic party."

Names of Prominent Democrats.

Along with many other Democrats, the following signatures were signed to the address:

J. W. Alexander, Gallatin; Sam B. Cook, Jefferson City; John T. Heard, Sedalia; R. E. Culver, St. Joseph; W. O. Gray, Bowling Green; Everett Reeves, Caruthersville; W. B. McGregor, Brookfield; A. B. A HUSBAND EVERY MONTH.

Chicago Girl Has First Claims to Marriage Record.

Chicago, July 29.—Pretty Rora Loob had a system al her own for acquiring and firing husbands, she told the police yesterday.

"Sure," said Rora, "I keep my husbands thirty days, and then return 'em, just as it says in the marriage license. Then I get a new license and a new husband."

Rora, the authorities say, has broken all records for "marriages," averaging close to twelve "husbands" a year through her own little system, which she declares she thought was what the marriage license meant when it said "Return this in thirty days." Rora still is unconvinced that what's meant is to return the license, not the husband.

Officials in New York, Indiana, Illinois, Wyoming and South Dakota are adding up the number of licenses Rora obtained for these informal alliances, and Rora boasts that when the last precinct is heard from, her list of spouses will add up to something like the total vote for a small town school board.

Ghosts! Where? In the Post Office! Look Out! You're Walking On Them!

Ghosts!

Does the thought make your blood curdle and shivers run up and down your spine? Are you still afraid to read "Tom Sawyer," or "Huckleberry Finn" after dark? Do you have to whistle to keep up your courage when you pass the cemetery? Do you step on the gas as you pass the haunted house?

If you must give an affirmative answer to these questions then don't go near the post office on the corner of Fifth and Main streets, for it's full of ghosts. They stare at you from the walls as you go up the steps; they look over your shoulder as you lean against the inside wall to read that letter; they leer at you from the door if you come out empty handed; look out! You're stepping on them.

The limestone and marble of which the post office is built is composed of the bodies of the foraminifera, tiny animals which live in the water and whose shells are made of lime carbonate. The limestone caves in the Mississippi River made famous by Mark Twain in "Tom Sawyer," are of similar composition. Could the fright of Tom and Becky have compared in intensity with the number of dead around them they would have been literally frightened to death.

Be warned—you timid folk and send your bolder friends to the oPst Office.—Ruth T. Jones.

This story was written as a class assignment by Miss Ruth T. Jones, a member of Miss Beatrix Winn's class in journalism at the State Teachers College.

1,500 TICKETS FOR FARM BUREAU FOLK

DISTRIBUTED FREE FOR OPENING NUMBER OF CHAUTAUQUA

FILMS FOR MEETINGS

U. S. Department of Agriculture to Furnish "Exit Asearcis" for Month

The farm bureau has received 1,500 tickets to the opening number of the Chautauqua, August 5, to be distributed to the members and their families so that they can hear the lecture by Homer C. Boblitt on the subject "Is Farming a Business." Roy A. Kinnaird has the tickets at his office and has issued a letter to the members of the bureau with the news that the ticket which is waiting for them to call for it.

With the same letter, Mr. Kinnaird has sent the farm bureau members information concerning inquiries for seed wheat, oats and barley; about a motion picture film on hog worms which will be shown at community meetings this fall; and about the poultry culling demonstrations for this fall.

In the letter Mr. Kinnaird says "If you have any grain that you think is especially desirable for seed, and are going to save a quantity of it for that purpose, let me know what kind and how much you have, so that I can tell the other farmers where they can get good seed."

There is always a big inquiry each year just before the planting season for good seed. A lot of the grain has been damaged or lost by the wet weather this year so that the number of inquiries is expected to be unusually large.

Concerning the showing of the new film which the farm bureau will have next fall, Mr. Kinnaird says "I have obtained the promise of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, motion picture films, 'Exit Ascaris,' which is a wonderful film showing the life history of the common worm in hogs, how they injure your young pigs and how farmers in La Salle County, Illinois, have learned to keep the worms out of their pigs. This film is promised to us for two months beginning September 1."

"There are about forty-five community centers in the county where we would like for these films to be shown. If we could show them at these places, every farm bureau member in the county would have an opportunity to see them." The films will have to be shown every night during the week if they are to be taken to every community in the county.

Although there have been about 250 poultry culling demonstrations in the county during the past two years, Mr. Kinnaird plans on giving a limited number of demonstrations this year. Because the number will be limited he has asked that those wishing demonstrations would write him within the next few days so that he can make out a schedule where by he can cover several "demonstrations" in one day and avoid unnecessary driving.

To the Democratic Voters:

I am respectfully offering myself as a candidate for the nomination for recorder of deeds. From my attainments in a few branches of education, and my experience in clerical work I believe myself qualified for the duties required.

In matters political, women and men stand on equal footing. Each woman in this county has as much right to register her choice for nominee as has any man, I want the women to feel as this their first opportunity of mingling their voices with the men in choosing candidates, that my appeal is extended to them also.

In return for favorable consideration I promise service.
